Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 01 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Drastically colder today compared to Wednesday.

Today:
Feeling markedly colder today, compared to Wednesday, especially along the coast with the brisk northeast wind. The highest temperatures will be in the west. Generally cloudy at first, but sunny spells will develop. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Largely clear then areas of cloud will arrive, although still some clear spells will occur. Breezy along the coast, with light winds elsewhere and becoming chilly in rural inland locations. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Friday:
Often large amounts of cloud, especially across the east where a few light showers may arrive. Best of the sunshine and highest temperatures further west, but feeling cold everywhere. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Saturday mainly cloudy, with perhaps isolated light showers, feeling cool. Sunday early frost, then largely sunny and locally rather warm. Monday much colder, and windy with scattered heavy wintry showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.